FEC Complaint filed against Gabbard for Congress

The Federal Election Commission (FEC) has launched a preliminary investigation into a charge that 2nd Congressional District candidate Mike Gabbard has violated numerous campaign contribution laws. On September 27, 2004, in a letter to Alex Achmat, the Big Island resident who filed the complaint, the FEC assigned case number MUR5538 to the complaint.

The complaint charges:

- 1) That Friends of Gabbard ( as of 9/26/04 the name has been changed to "Gabbard for Congress") has violated campaign finance reporting laws.
- 2) That FEC Schedule A, Form 3 report forms were falsified or modified to disguise the full identity, employment and occupation of contributors.
- 3) That a persistent pattern emerges of large donations made by unverifiable and "modestly" employed contributors; suggesting individuals may have been used as "conduits" for money from a third party.

An investigation, with powers to subpoena documents, has been requested.

The complaint further states that Gabbard for Congress is not a "grass roots" campaign as promoted by Gabbard press releases, but is a media operation heavily financed by a small number of contributors.

Within five days of receipt of the complaint, Gabbard for Congress and all respondents referenced in it were notified and given a copy of the complaint. Mike Gabbard now has 15 days to demonstrate, in writing, why the FEC should not move to a full investigation.

Moiliili restaurant picketed by gay-rights group closes

They charge discrimination, he denies it

By Kris M. Tanahara
Advertiser Staff Writer

The owner of a health-foods Moiliili restaurant that had been picketed for nearly two weeks by gay-rights activists announced yesterday that he was closing his business.

Mike Gabbard, owner of The Natural Deli on King Street, said the stress and pressure from the pickets had become "too much to bear."

"It's been sad to watch our business go down the drain and see our customers badgered and hassled by the picketers," he said.

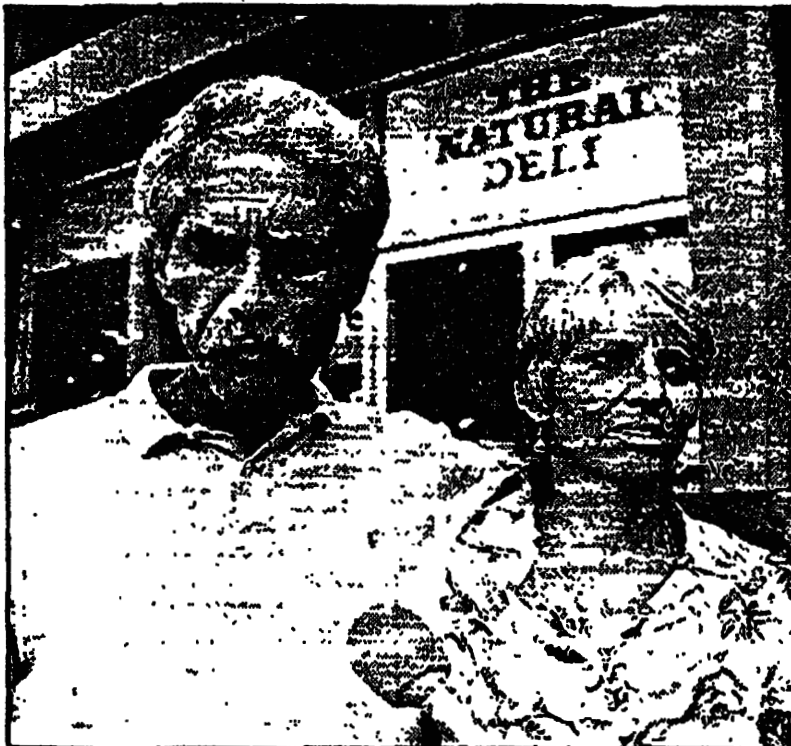

Four picketers who were outside the restaurant yesterday said they had not been harassing the customers. They said they had not intended to close the restaurant, but wanted Gabbard to abide by "fair hiring practices."

The activists started picketing after Gabbard stated on his KGU radio show that, if all else were equal, he would hire a heterosexual over a homosexual. The group also began distributing fliers outside the restaurant urging customers not to patronize restaurants that discriminated against homosexuals.

Gabbard, who denied discriminating against anyone in his hiring or firing practices, said yesterday that if he had said on the show that he would hire the homosexual, he would have been discriminating against heterosexuals.

"The whole discrimination thing was a smoke screen," said Gabbard.

He said the real aim of the group was to keep him from broadcasting his "Let's Talk Straight, Hawaii" radio show on KGU.

Mike Gabbard and wife Carol at yesterday's press conference in front of The Natural Deli restaurant.

"They can't stand to have a different point of view given, other than their own," he said.

When asked if he had ever hired a homosexual, Gabbard said he didn't know. "I never asked," he said.

Gabbard, a co-founder of the group, Stop Promoting Homosexuality Hawaii, which was organized last June, said he's not against homosexuality, just against the promotion of it as a "normal lifestyle."

"Homosexuality is not normal, it's not healthy behavior," he said.

Gabbard said for the four years he's been in business, the restaurant has been operating in the black. He said that since the picketing began 12 days ago, he's noticed a drop in business, but didn't know by how much.

Bill Woods, one of the picketers, said he thinks Gabbard was closing because he refused to hire homosexuals. "I think he's closing because of bad business (hiring practices)," Woods said.

Gabbard said he'll keep his radio show, but doesn't plan to open another restaurant.

"As long as I have the radio show, they're going to keep following me around," he said.

Statement on gay hires stirs protest

Radio host's deli picketed in Moiliili

By Andy Yamaguchi
Advertiser Capitol Bureau

A handful of gay-rights activists yesterday picketed a Moiliili health-foods restaurant owned by a leader of an anti-gay organization.

Members of the Gay and Lesbian Education and Advocacy Foundation handed out leaflets outside The Natural Deli on King Street, saying deli owner Mike Gabbard stated on a radio program that he would hire a heterosexual job applicant over a homosexual one.

Picketers Jim Grise and Sharyle Lyndon said they knew of no instance in which Gabbard had not hired applicants because they were gay.

But Grise said, "We feel there's such a strong potential for discrimination that we felt action had to be taken now."

Caught in the crossfire was the Healthy's/Down To Earth natural-foods store, which subleases part of its store to Gabbard's deli. One door serves both businesses.

Gabbard and Grise said they wanted to make it clear that Healthy's is not involved in the dispute. Healthy's manager, Mike Henrietta, said several customers complained about the picketers, including one customer who said a picketer used a racial slur.

Promoting Homosexuality Hawaii, organized last June.

"We are against the promotion of this lifestyle," Gabbard said yesterday. "We feel it's unhealthy."

Gabbard is the host of a weekly program on KGU Radio called "Let's Talk Straight, Hawaii." According to a transcript provided by Gabbard of last Saturday's show, a caller asked Gabbard if, all else being equal, he would hire a heterosexual job applicant or a homosexual one.

Gabbard told the caller, "Obviously you're trying to put me on the spot, but, pressed further, answered, 'If they were both the same, then I would take the one that is not homosexual.'"

Gabbard yesterday called the call

"a setup" by activists "trying to find some excuse to picket in front of my restaurant because I'm one of the leaders of Stop Promoting Homosexuality Hawaii."

Gabbard added, "It's an obvious attempt to squelch free speech and freedom of ideas. They're trying to hurt me economically to get the news off the air."

Gays and lesbians protest against the 'Natural Deli'

A group of gay-rights activists picketed Tuesday at a Moiliili deli, whose owner is a leader of an anti-gay organization.

Members of the Gay and Lesbian Education and Advocacy Foundation passed out leaflets outside The Natural Deli.

The deli co-owner is Mike Gabbard, host of a weekly radio show called "Let's Talk Straight Hawaii," on KGU, and is the leader of a group called Stop Promoting Homosexuality Hawaii.

The gay activists said Gabbard stated on a recent program that he would hire a heterosexual job applicant over a homosexual one.

Jim Grise, one of the picketers, said, "We feel there's such a strong potential for discrimination that we felt action had to be taken now."

Gabbard said the group was trying to "squench free speech and freedom of ideas."

"If they (the potential employees) are both the same," he said on his radio show Saturday. "Then I would take the one that was not homosexual."

Hawaii state law forbids discrimination in employment and housing on the basis of sexual orientation.

Foundation officials said Gabbard and several others picketed the 1991 Gay and Lesbian Pride Parade sponsored by the Pride Parade and Rally Council on Oahu.

Bill Woods, a member of the foundation, accused Gabbard of distributing hate-based information that is misleading and false about gay and lesbians.

Mike Henrietta, owner of the adjacent health food store, Down to Earth Foods, approached the protesters with concerns that the protest would hurt his business.

Future demonstrations are being planned by the foundation for businesses that discriminate against gays and lesbians.

DELIC GETS GAY PROTEST

HONOLULU (AP) — A group of gay-rights activists picketed Tuesday at a Moiliili deli, whose owner is a leader of an anti-gay organization.

Members of the Gay and Lesbian Education and Advocacy Foundation passed out leaflets outside the deli.

The deli owner Mike Gabbard is the host of a weekly radio show called "Let's Talk Straight Hawaii," and leader of a group called Stop Promoting Homosexuality Hawaii.

The gay activists said Gabbard stated on a recent program that he would hire a job applicant who has a heterosexual preference rather than homosexual one.

Jim Grise, one of the picketers, said, "We feel there's such a strong potential for discrimination that we felt action had to be taken now."

Owner gives up deli but not anti-gay views

By Tim Ryan

Star-Bulletin

His restaurant is gone but he vows his radio show will live on.

Mike Gabbard said he shut down his 4-year-old Moiliili vegetarian restaurant, the Natural Deli, on Sunday because of what he called pressure and pickets by homosexual activists.

He promised to continue broadcasting his hourlong Saturday afternoon AM radio show on KGU — "Let's Talk Straight, Hawaii" — where he calls homosexual activity unhealthy, unnatural and immoral.

"They want to shut down the radio show, shut me up," Gabbard said yesterday. "It's not going to work."

Gay rights activists boycotted and picketed the King Street business for nearly two weeks after Gabbard answered a call-in question on his radio show on whether or not, if all qualifications were equal, he would hire an openly homosexual or heterosexual person.

"I said ... I would hire the heterosexual," he said. "I've never broken any labor laws; I've never discriminated against anyone in hiring or firing practices. I'm not a hate monger."

Gabbard said a person's sexual preference is not part of his hiring practice. He believes he was "set up" by homosexual activists calling in and asking the same question several times.

The question was phrased "what if the person was openly homosexual," he said. "Gee, if he was openly heterosexual I might not hire him if I was worried he would keep hitting on my female employees."

Gay rights activist Bill Woods yesterday said that discriminating against anyone on the basis of sexual preference or lifestyle is against the law.

He also said that recent picketing outside Gabbard's restaurant by gay rights advocates was for educational purposes, not to close down the business.

Woods accused Gabbard of spreading misinformation, misleading the public and "arming the public with hate messages."

"He feels he can go on the radio to promote his (anti-gay) views proclaiming freedom of speech," Woods said. "We have the same rights for (informational pickets) and we used his words to show his bigotry and misinformation."

Woods and another gay rights activist, Sharyle Lyndon, don't know of anyone not hired by Gabbard because they were gay but said they do know people who did not apply for work there because of the restaurant owner's views on homosexuality.

"We were not trying to put him out of business but ... to teach him what economic hardship means, and about bigotry," Woods said.

Gabbard said his family's reputation has been "destroyed" by the protest.

"It has been sad to watch our business go down the drain and to see our customers badgered and hassled by the picketers," said Gabbard who estimated his 15-employee business dropped as much as 30 percent during the picket.

"We chose to keep our souls and give up our business," Gabbard said.

Gabbard's radio show is sponsored by a group he founded last summer: "Stop Promoting Homosexuality Hawaii," a coalition of religious leaders and supporters from Catholic, Protestant, Buddhist, Muslim and Hindu faiths, he said.

He agrees his show is one-sided. "I have a particular point of view, to stop the promoting of homosexuality," Gabbard said. "I've chosen not to have two sides represented."

But Gabbard said he is willing to participate in "an objectively monitored debate" on the homosexual lifestyle.

Gay rights activists "can't stand to have a different point of view other than their own," Gabbard said.

He expects the activists to begin pressuring KGU officials to have his privately funded show removed from the air.

Woods said there has been no attempt to have Gabbard's radio show taken off the air, although they have asked KGU about its cost and source of funding.

Gabbard said his radio show is paid for by various contributors, but declined to say how much each show costs. Woods, however, believes Gabbard pays for the program himself, about $250 a week.

Gay rights activists plan to continue monitoring Gabbard's radio program, including calling in questions.

"Freedom of speech is a right and a responsibility," Woods said.

KGU officials weren't available for comment yesterday.

Mr. Itomura summarized for commissioners the complaint that was first considered in August 2001. The complaint raised nine issues raised, eight of which were found to be unfounded or of minimal consequence. The one issue that was of some significance, the joint ad by Alliance for Traditional Marriage ("ATM"), which should have been reported as a nonmonetary contribution, and both Gabbard and ATM have filed amended reports to reflect the nonmonetary contribution.

Staff recommends that the commission find that Gabbard unintentionally omitted reporting of the nonmonetary contribution and has filed an amended report, and that Counts 1-7 and 9 be dismissed for lack of sufficient support to claim that a law or rule has been violated.

Mr. Muraoka moved to dismiss complaint, Ms. Chock seconded. Motion carried.

Old Business:*Docket 02-09 Thomas Berg vs. Certified Management

Complaint alleged that Certified Management failed to file the required organizational and disclosure reports for expenditures made in support of candidate Tesha Malama. Staff notified Certified of their failure to file the required reports. Subsequently, Certified submitted all required reports and paid the penalty for failing to submit two timely reports.

Ms. Belatti moved to summarily dismiss the complaint, Ms. Chock seconded.
Motion carried.

Docket 02-12 Michael Golojuch vs. Friends of Mike Gabbard*Docket 02-13 Michael Golojuch vs. Friends of Tulsi Gabbard Tamayo

Complaints alleged possible violations related to failure to accurately report expenditures. At the November 15, and December 2, 2002 meetings, after hearing the responses made by Randal Yoshida, counsel for both respondents and Michael Golojuch the Commission directed the staff to further investigate the matter. Staff requested that respondents amend their disclosure reports to reflect all payees and expenditures in detail and respondents have complied.

Ms. Belatti moved to summarily dismiss both complaints, Ms. Chock seconded.
Motion carried.

August 14 Written Complaint

To: Captain Steve Guillermo, North Kohala Police Station
From: Friends of Gabbard, Mike Gabbard,
Re: Stolen signs
Date: August 14, 2004
Cc: Officer Fukuda

FORMAL COMPLAINT

Please consider this a formal complaint relative to the continuing theft of signs and banners in the Hawi area belonging to the Friends of Gabbard congressional campaign.

Thus far, more than 20 signs have been stolen and one banner defaced in the Hawi area alone.

The primary suspect is a male whose first name is Alex. Although we have not yet learned Alex' last name, he is married to a Susan Walsh.

Dee and Bob Dwyer have also made a complaint to you regarding Alex and his intimidating tactics. Alex went to the Dwyer's door, called Mike Gabbard names, and tried to get the Dwyers to remove their sign. They refused and closed their door. Dee then drove around the neighborhood and saw that most of the 25 Gabbard signs previously in residents' yards were missing.

If it isn't a crime, it should be: Alex is going door to door in Hawi wherever he sees a "Gabbard for Congress" sign in the yard, harassing people and trying to intimidate them into removing their signs. In many instances, Alex has removed the signs after talking to the residents.

In many other instances, Alex is removing signs without the residents' knowledge or permission.

Officer Fukuda informed us yesterday that people he spoke with who had had Gabbard signs removed from their yards by Alex did not want to say the signs were stolen. Most wanted to say they gave Alex permission to remove the signs. The one exception, according to Officer Fukuda, was Mrs. Nakashima who said she did not give anyone permission to remove the sign. The only logical conclusion, then, is that the sign was stolen—and most likely by Alex.

Mrs. Nakashima, Hawi, didn't know why the sign was gone. She didn't give anyone permission to take the sign and she didn't take the sign down herself. Therefore it must have been stolen. She wants another one put up.

In addition to the addresses already provided Officer Fukuda, here are names and addresses of Hawi residents where our campaign signs have been stolen:

1. Mike and Chastity Purez, Hawi, have had two signs stolen. The first was stolen over the weekend (August 7-8) and the second sign was stolen Wednesday or Thursday (August 11 or 12). Mike Purez said he would make a statement to police. It will need to happen soon, as Mr. Purez will be deployed to Iraq any day.
2. Carlos and Vicky Adams, have already made a complaint to you about four of his Mike Gabbard signs that were stolen or damaged on their property. Since his complaint, another of their Gabbard signs has been destroyed.
3. Mrs. Nakashima, Hawi, didn't know why the sign was gone. She didn't give anyone permission to take the sign and she didn't take the sign down herself. Therefore it must have been stolen. She wants another one put up another sign.
4. Mrs. Gina Davis, had 2 Mike Gabbard signs stolen last night (8/13) sometime after 7:00 p.m. Hers is the first house on the left as you turn into She will be filing a police report today.
5. We replaced a sign at this house on Monday. It was taken down/stolen on Thursday or Friday. I don't have the woman's number to call her to see if it was stolen or if Alex came to her door, and then took it.

The cost of our double-sided signs is $25.

The approximate replacement cost of the banner is: $100.00

We believe a search of Alex' property will likely produce several Gabbard signs.

This outrageous behavior is not only illegal, it is also an affront to our democracy and freedom of political expression and must not be allowed to continue.

We want to pursue to the fullest extent possible, charges of harassment, theft, and property damage against "Alex."

We will do whatever is required to initiate prosecution. Please contact Mike or Carol Gabbard at or Dee Dwyer, the official Gabbard campaign representative in Hawi, at Whatever you can do to expedite this process and help stop this illegal activity would be greatly appreciated.

Thank you.

9. Salvador residence Hawi, Alex came and talked to Mrs. Salvador about how she should take her sign down because Mike Gabbard is a hater, bad person, homophobe, etc. She let him take the sign, but she's going to vote for Mike. She didn't want another sign because she didn't want Alex to come back and didn't want anymore trouble.

The following addresses had signs already. We didn't ask them if they had been approached to take the signs down.

1. Paul Reiveira,
2. April Isabel,
3. Lloyd Cushnie, Hawi
4. Ernest and Doreen Paro, Hawi
5. Jan Payne, Hawi

Signs were put up at the following addresses, but we couldn't find them to check if signs were still there: (the addresses may have been written down wrong, and some had incomplete information)

1. Catalina Morales, Hawi
2. Tricia Burns, Hawi
3. Koa Perez, Hawi
4. Maeda, Hawi
5. Hawi and Kapaau
6. Sam

The cost of the signs is $25.00 (our signs are double sided)

The approximate replacement cost of the banner is: $100.00

There was another incident on Monday, 8/9/04. When we were putting up a new sign and banner at I saw someone on Hanaula St in a car with the license plate number say to someone on his cell phone something like "Gabbard is here. He's putting up a Gabbard sign." I think the car was beige.

On Tuesday morning, 8/10/04, Dee Dwyer and her husband Bob noticed on Hawi Rd. three signs that Bob put up in the last 2 days had broken stakes and signs were missing.

Complaint filed by: Tracy Rohland .

Kailua-Kona, HI 96740.

Filing a harassment complaint against:

Alex Achmat,

Hawi, HI 96719. (808) 889-0886

Details of complaint: At approximately 8:15 a.m. Thursday morning (October 21, 2004), four Gabbard campaign workers were signwaving on the side of the road on Highway 19 just north of New Hope church in Waimea. The four volunteers were Alice Huang, Angelica Calvillo, Erica Huber, and Tracy Rohland, all Big Island residents.

Hawi resident and Ed Case campaign worker Alex Achmat drove up in a white Volvo, license plate # _____ and parked across the street. A woman was in the passenger seat.

Achmat got out of the car and immediately started taking pictures of us. He took pictures from across the street and continued to take pictures as he crossed the street and approached us.

The man with the camera identified himself as Alex Achmat and said he was a reporter and photographer with the Hawaii Island Journal. He said because he was a reporter, we were obligated to answer his questions and submit to the photo-taking.

He demanded to know our names, where we lived, worked, what our religion is, and so on.

When we objected to him trying to take our photos and tried to shield ourselves with the signs, he would maneuver himself to try to get under the signs and get shots of our faces. We all felt like we were being assaulted.

He kept taking pictures and harassing us, obviously trying to provoke us. He was falsely accusing us of being members of the Unification Church and calling us nasty, vulgar names. When we told him we had never heard of the Unification Church, his tone became even more derisive and hostile. We were frightened by his extremely aggressive behavior and felt in danger, all the more so because his aggressive behavior kept pushing us closer to on-coming traffic as we retreated.

At one point, Achmat moved his camera just inches away from Alice Huang's face and demanded answers to his questions.

We repeatedly asked Achmat to leave because he was making us feel physically threatened and terrorized. Each complaint and appeal to Achmat to leave was greeted by an escalation in his harassment and verbal abuse.

26044142238

After about ten minutes, Achmat returned to his car while continuing to take pictures of us. When he got to the car, the woman with him got out of the car and yelled across the street. "You guys are a bunch of Moonies. Just face it!"
